

Society of Otorhinolaryngology and Head-Neck Nurses

Dear Colleague:

The Society of Otorhinolaryngology and Head-Neck Nurses (SOHN) invites you to participate in our 35th Anniversary Congress and Nursing Symposium in San Francisco, California, September 9-13, 2011. SOHN is a national specialty nursing organization comprised of over 1200 nurses who specialize in the care of patients with ear, nose and throat disorders and head-neck cancer. Our members are involved in the delivery of patient care and patient management in many health care settings such as operating rooms, clinics, intensive care units, physician offices, ambulatory surgical centers and home health agencies. Our subspecialties include: otology, pediatric ORL, facial plastics, allergy/ sinus, geriatric ORL, head and neck, and general ORL. Many of our members are nurse practitioners, administrators, educators and nurse managers. Our specialty nurses use your products in the workplace, market your products to others and are the decision makers in purchasing.

The 35th Annual Meeting in San Francisco provides the perfect opportunity for you to share your products and services, along with valuable exposure through networking events. The Annual Meeting is the chance to get directly in front of your target audience of more than 500 qualified ORL and Head-Neck nurses with direct purchasing power and purchasing influence for their work places.

Your commitment to exhibit, to sponsor an event or to support an education session is greatly appreciated. We will gladly accept any promotional items for our registrants' packets (tote bags, pens, writing pads, etc.).

The combination of your technical knowledge and our nursing care will assist our patients in achieving a better quality of life. We look forward to your participation and support.

Please contact me with your sponsorship questions; I can be reached at 386-428-1695 or by email at sohnnnet@aol.com.

Sincerely,

Sandra L. Schwartz
